PROJECT GOAL

To promote Integrity and Anti-Corruption at the local level in Georgia, Moldova and Ukraine by disseminating and applying the innovative and practical Anti-Corruption Methodology “Islands of Integrity”
Pockets of Effectiveness Theory

Researchers identified public organizations, able to provide public goods and services relatively effectively in a hostile environment dominated by poor management and bad governance.

How? These organizations are relatively independent from the whole system (as LGs are), have political support (such as willing Mayors) and improve themselves through problem-solving processes engaging multiple stakeholders and step-by-step experimentation (go through a strategic and participatory process).

The innovative Anti-Corruption Methodology, similarly, transforms Local Governments into “Islands of Integrity” (and effectiveness) even if they operate in a sea of mismanagement and bad governance.
“Islands of Integrity” Anti-Corruption Methodology

A-C Methodology authors, Ana Vasilache and Ronald MacLean Abaroa, were inspired by his experience as Mayor of La Paz, Bolivia, when working closely with his team and Harvard mentor, Professor Robert Klitgaard, successfully treated and prevented corruption in his city and local government.

They developed it in order to transfer and multiply the successful experience of La Paz worldwide, in other countries and cities. The Methodology gained international recognition by 2011 UN Public Service Award, was applied in 12 CEE/SEE countries and 30 LGs, and included in widely used workbooks, translated into many languages.

International organizations programs adopted it, such as UNDP Istanbul Regional Hub, World Bank, Open Society Foundations or Partners Global
“Islands of Integrity” Anti-Corruption Methodology

The A-C Methodology is strategic and participatory:

Strategic means that it focuses on changing corrupt organizational systems not (only) corrupt individuals; identifies with priority the most dangerous forms of corruption; goes through the strategic planning process steps, from diagnosis to solutions.

Participatory means that managers and staff, leaders and outside stakeholders, work together to analyze the vulnerability to corruption of their organization and elaborate solutions.

Since corruption is a concept loaded with emotions, such as fear, shame or defensiveness, the A-C Practitioners help participants demystify corruption and approach it in an analytical way.

Looking into the Future

Suggestions on Network building:

- Include in the network the municipalities who have implemented the methodology;

- Develop mechanisms to support other consultants and practitioners in countries that are not part of the network and ensure they are provided with skills and support;

- Ensure regular experience sharing with other practitioners through Annual Meeting, Networking;

- Explore the possibility for joint project at international level;

- Cooperate with large anti-corruption project in countries and make sure that donors and implementers working in the same field are aware of the methodology and can tap into this resources and that the network is aware of activities in this field.
